

I Pragati Sahu pursuing BTech in Computer Science & Engineering department from GL Bajaj Institute of Technology, started my online education portal with the name- Code at Random.

I realize that education is not restricted to lessons taught in a classroom through textbooks. Children must be encouraged to ask as many questions as they can. This educational portal is made to deliver result-oriented courses at the convenience of your time and money.

It is a fact that students these days undergo numerous external challenges and influences, including that of lack of a liberal learning approach. With a purpose to contribute to our society, in a form of a Flexi learning arena, I have introduced a one-stop destination for all the basic educational needs.

We dream to provide you with the pre-eminent quality of education on a low-cost online interactive platform, through pre-recorded learning lessons, quizzes, game sessions, and live interactive doubt sessions in a bid to explain every morsel of a module.

Our online learning platform allows every candidate to learn at his / her own pace & interest. Perhaps, let us leave our footprints on the sand of time for others to follow and create a different world – an educated world – which is at its best with practical knowledge.
